

BERTINO ALESSIA

From theory to practice: midwives between experiences and evidences

ABSTRACT

The work aims to investigate the conditions that influence the transfer of knowledge acquired in daily professional practice, the factors favoring and hindering, describing how the process of knowledge is performed.

Through research on scientific journals and databases, is realized a historical-cultural excursus of midwives training, is investigated the concept of health and well-being and the impact of these on the traduction of knowledge into operative practice until the introduction to EBM / EBP, with some practical examples. Much has been found, so much is still to be investigated.